

My Invisible Thread

We all have our own "invisible thread" at some point in life, whether its with a relative, a stranger, or someone you may have bumped into on the train. My invisible thread connects me to my sister, Jessica. I've always felt that special bond with her, even though we fight sometimes. I can always go to her for help, or ask her about something I didn't understand. Although we may fight, in the end it brings us even closer together. We are always there for each other and we know how lucky we are to have each other. My random act of kindness to her would be when she goes to college in a couple years. Once in a while, I think that I would come and surprise her when she least expects it, and I would make sure to cherish the moment when I see the smile on her face.

When I heard the story of Laura and Maurice's invisible thread, I was truly inspired. I realized that I could be just like Laura, and I could help someone like Maurice, maybe later in life. I know that I can start a chain reaction, just like Laura started the ripple effect of helping someone less fortunate. I will always have an invisible thread with my sister, my friend, Jessica.
