

My Invisible Thread

If I had an invisible thread it would my brother Luke. He has Down's syndrome. When I come home from school I play with him. He knows some sign language so when he says, "cookie" I give him one. When people come to help Luke with his walking, it is fun to watch. He is always smiling and really fun to go outside and play with. Luke is my invisible thread because he is special to me.

By Thomas